The Daily Courant.

Monday, April 19. 1714.

London, April 19.

On Saturday arrived a Mail from France.

From the Paris Letter, dated April 25.

Paris, April 25.

'TIS advised from Perpignan the 9th Inſtant, that ſeveral Barks were ſailed from thence, laden with Tools for breaking up Ground and other Inſtruments of War for the Siege of Barcelona, where 'twas deſigned to open Trenches about the 10th, in order to which M. du Caſſe had began to range the Ships in a Line before the Port. In the mean while we are informed, that the Court have ſent to countermand the Troops which were marching to be employed in that Siege, and to the Count de Fienne not to enter into Action till further Order. 'Tis adviſed from Madrid the 9th, that on the 4th the Peace with England was proclaimed with very great Magnificence and Rejoycings: That the Count de Gramedo was expelled the Council and baniſhed from Court, as were alſo ſome other Miniſters: That the Prince de Chalays ſent by the Duke de Popoli had brought the Propoſitions of the Catalonians, according to which they offered to ſubmit themſelves; that they had an Account by another Way that the Sea being become calm, the Ships and Veſſels arrived from Toulon had landed the Proviſions which they had on Board; and that Deſerters reported the Scarcity of Victuals and Money augmented daily in the Town, which had likewiſe increaſed the Number of Deſerters, the more becauſe for ſome Days the Payment of the Troops had been diſcontinued. Letters from Aix in Provence relate, that the 14th of this Month the Wife of an Officer of the Gallies named de Serignan, had her Hand and Head cut off and then her Body thrown into the Fire, for having murthered her Husband at a Country-Houſe in the Neighbourhood of that Town; her two eldeſt Sons, who were Accomplices in the Murther, were broke alive on the Wheel and then burnt; a third Son was condemned only to ſtand on the Scaffold at the Execution, for being preſent at the Murther and not crying out for Help. 'Tis affirmed, that in the laſt Audience which the Dutch Ambaſſadors had of the King, they deſired on the Part of the States-General his Majeſty's Protection, offering to give up to him in Flanders what Places he would chuſe, for fear of ſeeing themſelves engaged in a new War; but all the Anſwer the King made them was, that the States-General having deſired the Peace, he had Signed it, and would exactly obſerve it the reſt of his Life with them as well as with his other Neighbours. The 22d Te Deum was ſung in our Cathedral, in Thankſgiving for the Peace between the King and the Emperour: In the Evening there was a magnificent Entertainment at the Town-Houſe, where were the Cardinal del Giudice, the Prince de Cellamare, the Marſhal de Villars, and ſeveral other Lords and Ladies, as well of the Court as Foreigners. About 9 a Clock, after the Cannon of the Baſtile and of the Greve had fired ſeveral times, a very fine Firework was played off before the Town Houſe; after which there was a great Ball, with Illuminations within and without the Town-Houſe, and in the Square before it Fountains ran with Wine for the Populace, among whom Money was flung out of the Windows. There were like Entertainments at the Houſe of the Duke de Tremes Governour of Paris, and at the Houſes of divers other Noblemen and Miniſters. There were alſo huge Bonfires in the Streets, and other Rejoycings. The Princes de Soubiſe, de Guimené, and de Monbazon, are in Priſon, for having aſſaulted two Valets de Chambre of the Duke d'Aumont, and an Engliſh Gentleman belonging to that Duke, as they were paſſing along the Street in the Night: The Pretext was, that the ſaid Perſons, who are much wounded, ſaid ſomething rude to one of thoſe Princes, (who had got into the Coach-box and was driving the Coach himſelf,) not knowing whom they ſpoke to.

The King's Letter to the Cardinal de Noailles, Archbiſhop of Paris, to order Te Deum to be ſung for the Peace concluded with the Emperour.

Couſin,

SINCE the Concluſion of the Treaties which my Ambaſſadors ſigned at Utrecht, I have applied all my Cares to the conſummating the Work of a general Peace, and have omitted nothing to engage the Emperour to follow the Example which his Allies had ſet him. God has bleſſed the Sincerity of my Intentions, and the Conferences held at Raſtat between the Marſhal Duke de Villars and Prince Eugene of Savoy, ſince the laſt Campaign, have at length produced the Peace which I deſired for the Happineſs of my People and for the general Good of all Europe. The Tranquility Europe will henceforward enjoy, being a Gift of the Divine Mercy, my Intention is that throughout my Kingdom moſt ſolemn Thanks be rendred to God. Wherefore I write you this Letter, to acquaint you that my Intention is you cauſe Te Deum to be ſung in the Metropolitan Church of my good City of Paris, the Day and Hour which the Grand Maſter or the Maſter of the Ceremonies ſhall appoint you on my Part; and I order him to invite to it my Courts and thoſe who uſe to aſſiſt on ſuch Occaſions, &c. Done at Marly the 19th of April 1714.
